June 27, 2016

Join us for a fabulous day of whale watching. The Whale watching season is from May to Oct.

We will depart Bedford at 10:30. We will travel to the coast enjoy lunch before going Whale Watching. The boat boards at 1:15 sails at 1:30 and returns at 5:30. A naturalist will be on board to help you identify the whales you are seeing. Off the New England Coast the whales are feeding and we almost always see whales. Please remember whales are wild creatures, and we cannot predict how many whale sighting we will have in a day. During the whale watching season it is not uncommon to see the whales breach and come out of the water, or stay on the surface and lap their tails. You are on the water and a breeze can blow up, bring a light jacket, sunscreen and binoculars.
